

VFT databases:

1. Center for Interactive Learning and Collaboration. www.cilc.org

2. Polycom/TWICE videoconferencing database. projects.twice.cc

Cloud based technology

1. ZOOM
2. Skype
3. Facetime
4. Google Hangouts

Alternatives to VFTs:

1. Exploring by the seat of your pants www.exploringbytheseat.com. Science based Google hangouts organized by Canadian educator Joe Grabowski

2. Skype an author skypeanauthor.wikifoundry.com. Database of authors willing to Skype. Each author bio outlines how long the presentation is and the price.

3. Classroom collaborations

Both CILC and Polycom/ Twice websites have a spot dedicated to classroom connections. Teachers in over 60 countries post collaborations that they would like to try with classrooms around the world. Polycom/ Twice calls this CAPspace and CILC has collaborations as a tab on their main page

a little bit about Virtual Field Trips

Dayna Hart: TL at Constable Neil Bruce Middle Twitter: @bookfin Email: dayna.hart@sd23.bc.ca